Sheldon College Graduate Takes Centre Stage at Youth Week

Youth Week celebrates the achievements, vitality, and strength of young Queenslanders aged 12 to 25 and helps to acknowledge the positive contribution young people make to our communities and Queensland's social, cultural and economic life.

Queensland Youth Week 2018 was held from the 6 April to Sunday 15 April and as part of the celebrations, a series of events and activities took place including a Youth Engagement Hub, designed to connect peers to have their say on what matters to them and a portal on Cyberbullying with practical ways on how to deal with Cyberbullying and how to help a friend.

Scott Millar, Sheldon College 2017 Graduate played his part in the celebrations too. Scott is a young entrepreneur who started BOP Industries, a hologram and technology company as part of a Sheldon College Business Project when he was in Year 9. Scott was also a panel member at the River City Labs "Let's Celebrate Our Young Starters" at the Precinct in Fortitude Valley on Friday 13 April.
